of area physicians for operation on a non-profit basis. Management of the hospital by the association is being done under a contract with the new owners of Riviera Community Hospital.

CROWDER, 30, comes here from Sharpe Memorial Hospital in San Diego, where he has held a supervisory position for the past three years. A native of Fresno, Crowder was graduated from the University of California and received his master's degree in hospital administration from Emory (Ga.) University.

Meanwhile, the new owners have launched a sprucing-up campaign at the hospital. The "new look" effort was marked over the week-end when more than a score of doctors, their families and members of their staffs toiled with rakes, hoes, trowels and wheelbarrows to improve the grounds of the hospital at 4025 W. 226th St.

Forty physicians banded together to purchase the three-year-old, 93-bed facility for $1,200,000.
